

You're invited! It's free...

The City of Philadelphia's Office of Emergency Management and the National Weather Service (NWS) present a full-day program:

Ready Philadelphia's Personal Preparedness Workshop and NWS SKYWARN Spotters Seminar

Philadelphia Fire Academy, 5200 Pennypack Street, Philadelphia, PA

Saturday, March 28 or Saturday, April 18

9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Includes free time for lunch. Bring your own lunch or eat at local restaurants.

Hurricanes. Tornadoes. Flash Floods.

Prepare NOW before severe weather strikes. Learn how to prepare for any kind of emergency. Become a trained weather spotter to promote public safety and minimize property damage.

Now's the time. Be Ready in 2009.

- What emergency supplies will you need?
- Will you know what to do if you need to evacuate?
- Will you be able to evacuate with pets?
- How can you learn to spot and report severe weather to NWS?
- How can you provide "ground truth" weather conditions to NWS?

Reservations required.

R.S.V.P. by March 25 and by April 15

edward.vassallo@phila.gov or call 215-683-3250.

Find out how you can sign up for emergency text alerts.

Visit our websites for more information: www.phila.gov/ready and www.erh.noaa.gov/phi